The Future

Our Mission

Introduction

In the last 5 years, the world has seen tremendous growth in cryptocurrency adoption, as well as amazing innovations in the use of blockchain technology across many industries. As Blockchain tech titans battle it out for the fastest transaction speed or network efficiency, implementations such as BUZZ benefit from their open source contributions and can focus on bringing change into the real world.

Being a completely open source project, BUZZ is entirely driven by the community. As a community project, we embrace diversity in ideas and opinions. The community is integral in shaping the vision of BUZZ. In shaping this vision, we empower active community members to bring forward projects aligned with our overall goal, to bring a BUZZ into the cryptocurrency and Proof of Stake community. One thing remains clear, that we want to innovate and create something new.

We want to create something exciting that has real world value and impact, while helping promote a brighter and cleaner future. With BUZZ and the open possibilities that have been brought to us with the Blockchain, we aim to just that, and more.

Open Source

It is our objective to bring out the best our community of people who are excited about BUZZ and the future that the Blockchain can bring to humanity, if we do it right. Open Source not only empowers this, but it allows such progress to thrive.

Through the open source implementation of Bitcoin, blockchain has boiled into our society at an awe-inspiring rate, and we hope to bring such innovation into the world as well.

BUZZFAM

Our audience, our BUZZFAM, our community, is of extreme importance to us. As it should be with any solid blockchain implementation. We seek to attract those who are interested in a long term and sustainable investment opportunity, and also for those who are interested in creating a more environmentally friendly blockchain implementation.

BUZZ is not just a coin that you earn on your computer, send to an exchange and make Bitcoin profit. It is much more. With BUZZ, you will be able to support innovative companies who are attempting to make a BUZZ in the real world, be it with conscious electrical providers, or organic bee farmers. In a time where technological advancement is rampaging forward without consequence, BUZZ is here to ensure that the future we create is a sustainable one and fair for all.

Proof of Stake

Initially, BUZZ offered a 1200% reward for our users, but we have upgraded to a new algorithm, below:

$1200 - (1200 * (\text{Current Supply} / \text{Max Supply}))$. For example, at 10 billion, the reward is 600%.

These changes to dynamic Coin Maturity and Proof of Stake rewards make BUZZ a little more deflationary than the typical Proof of Stake cryptocurrency. The aim is to slow down the rate of creation of new coins. With these changes in place, BUZZ will not hit its hard cap until 2020 at the very earliest. BUZZ also burns transaction fee coins, so when we are at this level, hopefully we will be burning large quantities of BUZZ daily, which will allow us to

Specifications

Maturity = $8 * \text{Current Supply} / 1 \text{ Billion}$ in hours. For example, at 10 billion, the maturity is then 80 hours.

Max Coin Supply is 20 Billion BUZZ

eternally provide staking rewards at a rate between 1% ROI yearly and 30% ROI yearly, depending on burn quantities.

It is estimated that the Proof of Stake reward will be approximately 500% annually when the changes are implemented at block 930,000. Rewards will decrease depending on the amount of BUZZ in circulation, as detailed above.

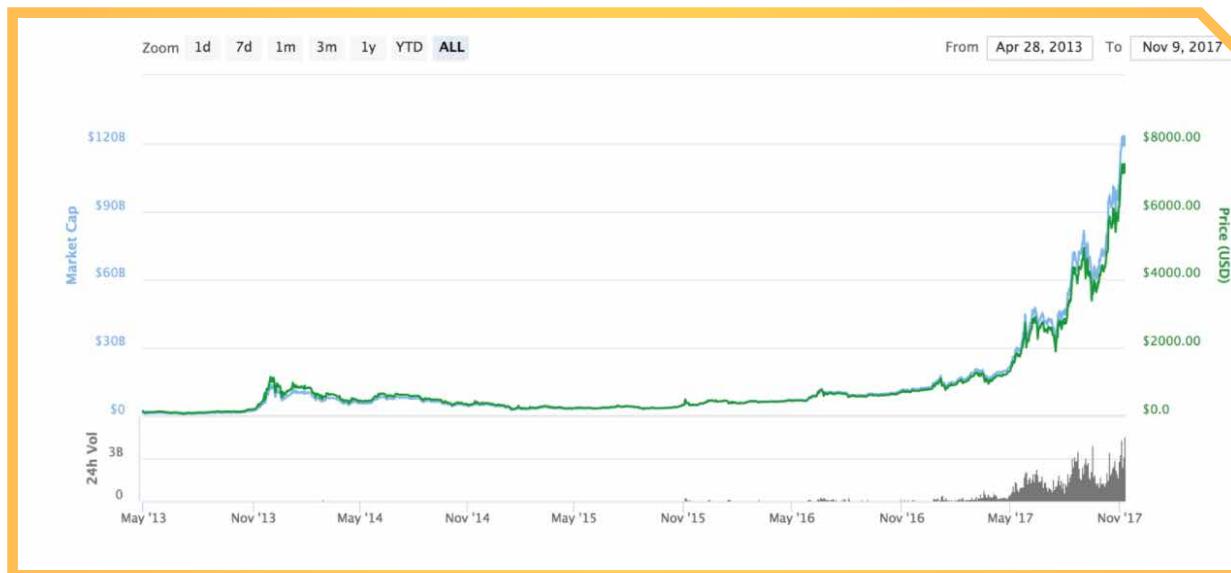

BUZZ Projects

When BUZZ ascended from being a simple Proof of Stake coin, we decided to keep our approach open to new ideas while keeping a general theme. That theme is the concept of "BUZZ". It can be a sound, imagery, or whatever you can imagine. Currently, to our community, the word BUZZ invoked thoughts of bees and electrical currents, and therefore our two main projects revolve around this concept.

Proof of Stake vs. Proof of Work

As the adoption of these technologies grows we need to think about the environmental impact that these technologies has on our environment and how truly scalable they are.

There are different ways in which a cryptocurrency can be designed. As they scale, coins such as Bitcoin are consuming for one transaction the same amount of electricity as powering 1.57 American households for one day (data from 2015). Recent calculations have put the total cost of powering the Bitcoin network equivalent to powering 2,000,000 homes in the United States. Keep in mind, this is ONLY the Bitcoin

Proof of Work algorithm. It could be argued, with the large amount of other Proof of Work currencies available on the market, that the amount of homes that could be powered could easily reach a number of 4,000,000 or more.

A modern blockchain design pattern exists today called Proof of Stake that aims to reduce the environmental impact that Proof of Work has, whilst also improving the speeds of transactions. Instead of using computing power to determine legitimate blocks, one must simply "stake" an amount of coins in their wallet to help uphold the network. The catch is, if you attempt to hack or invalidate the network through manipulation, your investment is invalidated.

Using Proof of Stake over Proof of work helps us accomplish one of our main goals at BUZZ, simply by proving our worth as a Proof of Stake Implementation. This is just the first step though. The second step comes with using each of these Proof of Stake nodes in a way that further incentivises clean energy consciousness. That is where our BUZZ Clean Energy Commitment Rewards Program comes in.

BUZZ IoT Energy Devices

With the conception of the Internet of Things, the way devices communicate with each other dramatically began to change. Using IoT device concepts, as well as the innovation of the Blockchain, we can truly bring something unique into the world.

We sell BUZZ IoT Energy Device on BUZZShop Connects to residential power supply, hybrid CurrentSee BUZZ IoT Energy Device. Energy Device acts as wallet with Ethereal Data Collector middleware. Will transmit data to BUZZ blockchain via Data Layer. This data will be then used to monitor electrical grid performance Airdrops/rewards, or fines!, will be done from official development wallet on a weekly/monthly basis depending on your improvements.

Using a modified Energy Device device, we can implement a blockchain wallet into the software of the Energy Device device. Instead of transmitting to an application within the household, it would ideally connect to the blockchains p2p network.

Using practically the same functionality that I assume exists in the Energy Device and Mobile App, the Energy Device device could store all of the data to the Data Layer of the blockchain implementation we choose.

Each Energy Device can be registered as a new user or an existing user within the network.

Potential “social” network for energy monitoring, where users can be scored amongst others and given easy recommendations on how they can upgrade their electrical footprint to improve their Energy Rating.

Based on their Energy Rating, they could then theoretically be rewarded a specific amount of the coin (BUZZ?) in addition to their Proof of Stake rewards for maintaining the p2p blockchain network.

It would turn the conscious use of electricity into a potential gamified platform with rewards that can be brought into the real world. In our Store project, we will create the platform where users can do just this through simple and user friendly mobile and web integrations.

HIVE

the Bees!

The work of all bee populations around the world is critical to maintain organic variety and diversity in vegetation of all shapes and sizes across the planet. Organic Bee Keeping is often done as a hobby, but even some exist who are bringing quality product to the market on a massive scale.

BUZZ will help put the importance of this ecosystem and help spread the potential for an organic future through masternode incentivisation. Our plan is to create a device, similar to the BUZZ Energy Project IoT Device, but one that would interact with the health of the hive through a variety of sensors.

Through central node implementation, the BUZZ IoT Hive Mind Device is kept away from the hives to prevent frequency interference to the hive health. The Hive Mind Device will contain a masternode enabled wallet, and if it is contributing data packets through the Queen middleware, will receive extra BUZZ as a reward.

It is our goal to expand across the globe with BUZZ IoT Hive Mind Devices in order to create a transparent live network of world bee population health. Our ideal targets are organic farmers who live in areas of non contamination. We hope that larger suppliers of honey will see the benefit in an organic future and can also be supported by our devices.

For any startup who is lacking funding but wishes to begin a bee-farm, we will match the costs in BUZZ/BTC to start a hive in organic approved areas.

We will make the Hive Mind Dashboard, a cross platform application that shows the live statistics of the hives worldwide and their general health. Each Organic Bee Farmer that has a masternode Hive Mind Device will have the ability to sell their honey or other organic items directly via the application for BUZZ in our Store.

History of BUZZ

BUZZ started out as another dead altcoin that we found on Bitcoin-talk. Efforts were made within the Proof of Stake community to get it off the ground again after some time. We got started with building the website and creating a Discord group to enjoy some market fluctuations. Most of the people who joined this effort were rather inexperienced with the Blockchain, and upon learning about the potential it held, realized the power of the coin name BUZZ. A core team started to form, a mission began to form in our mind.

As if drawn by the forces of magic, the Core Team and Hive Mind began to assemble through beautiful synchronicities. For example, just when things seemed to be a little dark on the market and we had no leads with getting the Bee Keeping Project started, Tor Even wrote me a message on Discord and we began to lay the foundations for the entire project plan. Another example was when Andrew Celtic wrote me about his passion for energy conservation and brought the first breaths of air into this whitepaper. Since then, we have progressed to having official partnerships with up and coming energy companies such as 3DFS.

The community is ever evolving, ever growing into something new.
